Mayor Hoos, of Jersey City, says this country is ready to fight any country that wants to fight. Hoo-ra for Hoos. Whose afraid. This is probably a combination of Hoos and "Jersey lightning" booze.

Henry C. Bliss, of West Springfield, Mass., wishes to have his memory kept green and is providing his own monuments. For the past twenty years he has been planting trees in his town, and has planted over a thousand, which didn't cost the town a cent.

It is said that Mr. John D. Rockefeller has become so worried over the notoriety growing out of the racket with brother Frank, that he will go abroad to spend the summer. Even great wealth does not protect its possessors from little annoyances, when the family skeletons are exposed.

A few days ago a rawboned fellow from the wild and woolly West lit in Wall street, New York, and fleeced the sharpers there out of $38,000 with some bogus mining claims. Now when a fellow comes from the far West, arrayed in big boots, slouch hat, &c., with mining claims to dispose of, they are disposed to give him a wide berth.

Men hunting stray stock in the woods in Florence county, South Carolina, a few days ago discovered the bones of a man chained to a charred stake on the banks of Black creek. Nobody seems to know anything about the stake business. But it is safe to say there will be no fishing done in Black creek by black anglers within a mile or two of that locality for some time to come.

"Triss" the Opening Bill.

The old favorite comedy drama "Triss" will be the opening performance Monday night of the Lyceum Theatre Stock Company and the production will not only show the dramatic strength of the company but their vaudeville ability as well. The play, as is well known, is of the pleasing rugged Western type and with just enough of the drama to hold in hand the roaring comedy. It was selected by the management in preference to many up-to-date comedies, as it is a play that always meets with a cordial reception and one that has no superior either in popularity or merit. The specialties to be introduced will be of a first class order, both novel and up-to-date.

Monday night will be the ladies' night when every lady accompanied by the holder of a paid thirty cents ticket will be admitted free.

Seats for this and Tuesday night's performances can now be obtained at the box office at the Opera House.

The evening's exercises closed with the doxology and benediction by Rev. Mr. Bumpass.

ODD FELLOWS' RECEPTION.

Cape Fear Lodge Last Night Received Members Honored by Grand Lodge.

An event of more than passing interest with the Odd Fellows of Wilmington was the reception given last evening by Cape Fear and Hanover Lodges in honor of the return of Grand Master Marcus W. Jacobi, Grand Treasurer Richard J. Jones and Grand Guardian J. J. Hopkins, of the Wilmington membership of the order.

The reception was tendered in Hanover Lodge room by Cape Fear Lodge No. 2, of which Messrs. Jacobi and Jones are members, and the members of that lodge assembled at 8 15 o'clock in front of their hall on Third street and marched in a body to the reception room.

Mr. B. F. King presided at the meeting and Iredell Meares, Esq., delivered a pleasing address on Odd Fellowship, which he concluded with an introduction of Grand Master Jacobi, who was heartily cheered. Mr. Jacobi also made a splendid address, thanking the brethren assembled for the reception tendered, etc. Short speeches were also made by Messrs. W. L. Smith, J. J. Hopkins, C. W. Smith, W. H. Yopp, N. Jacobi, E. F. Johnson and Col. Walker Taylor.

After the exercises of the evening a delightful spread of refreshments was served by the special committee, the members of which were given in yesterday's paper.

DEATH OF JOSIAH H. JONES.

Died at His Home on Market Street Late Yesterday Afternoon.

The STAR chronicles with regret the death of Mr. Josiah H. Jones, which occurred yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at his home in this city, No 1514 Market street. Mr. Jones had been ill for some time with pneumonia, and was in the seventy-second year of his age.

He had been a resident of Wilmington for perhaps forty years, and was for as many as twenty years in the livery business with the late Capt. T. J. Southerland. Since about four years ago he has been in the same business with Mr. S. J. Davis on Market street. He was a man of sound character and was universally esteemed by those who knew him.

The immediate relatives are two sons, Messrs. Sol J. Jones, of East Wilmington, and E. G. Jones, of this city, and three daughters, Mrs William Hayes, Mrs. George Bate, both of Wilmington, and Mrs. William Hurst, of Florida.

The funeral announcement will be later.

NO DECISION YET.

County Commissioners Cannot Agree on Matter of Health Superintendent.

The Board of County Commissioners, all members being present, were in session again yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the matter of the joint election with the city of a Superintendent of Health and a Visiting Physician.

The Board remained in session for more than an hour but no agreement was reached and the matter is still left open for further consideration at a special meeting to be held next Tuesday afternoon. It is learned that the probable outcome of the complications, particulars of which are well known to STAR readers, will be the election of a County Physician by the Commissioners separate and distinct from the election of the Board of Aldermen. Under the old arrangement the salary of the Superintendent of Health was $1,500 per year, of which amount the county paid three-fifths and the city two-fifths. In the event of a separate election by the Commissioners it is understood that the agreement will be broken and each employing board will have to support its respective officer.

Change of Operators,

Mr. W. S. Mosberg, who has been in charge of the Postal Telegraph branch office on the wharf, left yesterday afternoon for his home at Hampton, Va., the branch office having closed for the season. Before leaving he held the position of night operator at the Postal's up-town office for a week or more in place of Mr. A. B. Robinson, who was off on a vacation. Mr. Robinson has now resumed his duties at the up-town office.

SATISFACTORY RATES ON THE RAILROADS.

The Interstate Tournament Officials Have Every Assurance of Low Passenger Rates for the Firemen.

Capt. James D. McNeill, president of the State Firemen's Association, and Col. W. J. Woodward, chairman of the transportation committee for the tournament July 10th to 13th, inclusive, yesterday had a conference with Mr. H. M. Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, in regard to rates for the big event.

Capt. McNeill said that the conference was entirely satisfactory in every particular and that with the rate secured Wilmington would be overflowing with visitors on this occasion. Mr. Emerson, he said, promised the association a rate of one cent per mile each way for firemen and the transportation of all apparatus free. These rates will also be in vogue for the general public on the principal days of the tournament, and on all other days the rate will be one fare for the round trip. These, he said, were the same rates as afforded by the railroads upon the occasion of the tournament at Greensboro last year.

Speaking of the prize list, Capt. McNeill said that it was absolutely the best ever offered in the State in many particulars and that it was one that would be certain to bring the firemen here from four or more States. He is thoroughly enthused over the prospects and as a friend expressed it yesterday "he is the only original McNeill on the market."

In view of the very active interest taken in the tournament by its clever proprietor, Mr. R. M. Wallace, The Orton has offered a rate of $150 to the firemen on this occasion and in this instance the degree of enthusiasm of Mr. Wallace may be measured by the fact that this will be the only deviation from the regular rates ever made by this popular holstery in the history of his management.

The first day's session of the big week will be taken up with the usual meeting of the State Fireman's Association which will probably be held in the Court House. Then will follow the days of the contests and spectacular events, all of which will appear from the official programme to be issued a few days latter.

Capt. McNeill left yesterday afternoon for Lake Waccamaw to join his daughters, the Misses McNeill, who are there on a visit to their sister, Mrs. M. S. Kirkland. He will return to Fayetteville to-morrow and immediately begin a tour of the State in the interest of the tournament.

THE SESSIONS YESTERDAY.

Mr. W. L. Liddell, of Charlotte, Chosen as Great Sachem and Raleigh Decided Upon as Place of Assembling Next Year.

The second day's session of the Great Council Improved Order of Red Men for the Reservation of North Carolina was called to order yesterday morning at 9 o'clock by Great Sachem J. R. Davis, of Wilmington.

Reports of the several committees appointed at the previous day's session were heard and other matters of interest only to members of the fraternity were discussed.

After disposal of the routine business, the Council was declared in order for the election of Great Chiefs for the Reservation, and the following were named:

Great Sachem—W. L. Liddell, of Charlotte.

Great Senior Sagamore—Hill E. King, of Raleigh.

Great Junior Sagamore—W. H. Lane, of Wilmington.

Great Guard of The Forest—J. F. Keeter, of Henrietta.

The retiring great Sachem, Mr. J. R. Davis, of Wilmington, was elected Great Representative to the Great Council of the United States, which meets in Milwaukee during the month of September.

Capt. J. M. McGowan was elected to the vacancy occuring at the end of the fiscal year on the board of Trustees in place of Mr. E. P. H. Strunck, who had served the constitutional length of time.

Excursion to Carolina Beach.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock members of the Great Council and representatives to the same, were entertained with an excursion aboard the steamer Wilmington and an oyster roast at Carolina Beach, which was greatly enjoyed not only by the visiting Red Men but by a large number of those composing the local tribes. At the beach, Mr. E. P. H. Strunck, himself a member of the Great Council, extended to the party the courtesies of the Hanover Seaside Club and in this way the visitors were especially the recipients of unbounded hospitality. The steamer returned to the city at 7 o'clock.

Exercises Last Night.

At the regular meeting of Eyota Tribe, No. 5, last evening, many members of the Great Council were in attendance and informal talks were heard from a number of them, including Great Sachem Liddell, who spoke most acceptably of the prospects for the growth of the order in North Carolina and of the inestimable benefits of Red Manship. He was followed by an address by Great Keeper of the Wampum Whitcomb, of Elizabeth City, and he spoke of the great work being done through the medium of the order and the acts of brotherly love, charity and kindness that had come underhis personal observation.

After the addresses, a select team, composed of members of Eyota and Cherokee Tribes, captained by Mr. James H. Cowan, conferred the adoption and warrior's degree upon six candidates in truly artistic style.

With the conferring of the degrees, exercises by the local tribes in honor of the occasion were completed.

Many of the members of the council and representatives returned to their homes yesterday.

Just before the quenching of the fires of the Great Council a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered Eyota and Cherokee Tribes for the hospitable way in which the "Great Chiefs" and their representatives had been entertained, and Raleigh was decided upon as the next place of meeting, which, of course, will be one year from the date of assembling here.

Game With Caswell Nine.

Manager S. A. Matthews, of the Naval Reserves base ball team yesterday received a letter from Manager P. P. Farney, of the Fort Caswell nine, saying that owing to the boat schedules on Sunday, it would be impossible for him to bring his team here for a game Friday with the Naval Reserves' aggregation of ball tossers: He stated, however, that he would be on hand with his team Friday afternoon, March 18th, and would give the Wilmington "tars" the game of their lives. Manager Matthews says that with no unforeseen interruption there will certainly be a game with the Caswell boys on the date mentioned.

The old veterans are dropping off rapidly now and none wants to fail to meet his comrades at the Confederate Reunion at Louisville, May 30th to June 3rd, especially when the rates are so low as they are by the Seaboard Air Line Railway. †

"A PAWN IN THE GAME OF POLITICS"

A short while ago in quoting an extract from an address delivered by Rev. Dr. Stagg, of Charlotte, on the race problem before an audience in New Bedford, Massachusetts, we remarked that the race problem was becoming more and more a national problem, and that in the North it was now discussed and the discussion listened to with interest by people who would not have given it a passing thought a few years ago. The original "friends" of the negro in the North have not met with such a dazzling success in educating the negro up to their idea of his possibilities, but the negro has succeeded in educating his friends to a realization of some of the blunders they made in their estimate and treatment of the negro, whom they apparently mistook for a white man in a black skin. Some of them have discovered 'ere this that while there are some white men who ought to have black skins, and some negroes who perhaps ought to have white skins the right skin has generally fallen on the man. The Northern people have learned a good deal about this, and they would have learned a good deal more if they had come into such close contact with the negro as a part of the body politic and had the same opportunities of studying him at close range as the Southern people have had.

But they have learned something and are from time to time having additions made to their limited stock of knowledge, and the best of it is that this additional information comes from Northern men, friends of the negro, who have been observing and studying him to see how near he would approach or get away from the lines originally drawn for him when he was put upon the same plane politically as the white man. Dr. Charles Dudley Warner, president of the American Social Science Association, added his contribution to this stock of knowledge in an address delivered a few days ago, at the annual meeting of the association at the Columbian (N. Y.) University. His theme was the "Education of the Negro," in which he said there were some grave errors, as shown by experience. The results have been a disappointment, and "of a nature," he says, "to lead us to seriously inquire whether our effort was founded upon an adequate knowledge of the negro," and then he admitted, what every intelligent Southern white man knew when the negroes were suddenly elevated to the equals, by legislation, of white men, that "the Northern people [or more correctly, if he had said, the Republican party of the North] made a mistake in their estimate of the negro's evolution as a race, in attempting to apply to him the same treatment for the development of character that we applied to a race more highly organized."

Here is his explanation of the "mistake:" "The opportunity and the disposition to labor make the basis of all our civilization. The negro was taught to work, [he was speaking of the negro in slavery] to be an agriculturalist, a mechanic, a material producer of something useful. He was taught this fundamental thing. Our higher education applied to him in his present development is in exactly the opposite direction." As an illustration of this he continued as follows:

"Have these colleges, as a whole, stimulated industry, thrift, the inclination to settle down to the necessary hard work of the world, or have they bred idleness, indisposition to work, a vaporous ambition in politics, and that sort of conceit of gentility of which the world has already enough! If any one is in doubt about this he can satisfy himself by a sojourn in different localities in the South. The condition of New Orleans and its negro universities is often cited. It is a favorable example, because the ambition of the negro has been aided there by influence outside of the schools. The Federal Government has imposed upon the intelligent and sensitive population negro officials in high positions, because they were negroes, and not because they were specially fitted for those positions by character or ability. It is my belief that the condition of the race in New Orleans is lower than it was several years ago, and that the influence of the higher education has been in the wrong direction.

We face a grave national situation. It cannot be successfully dealt with sentimentally. It should be faced with knowledge and candor. We must admit our mistakes, and social and political, and set about the solution of our problem with intelligent resolution and a large charity. It is not simply a Southern question; it is a Northern question as well. In a paper read at the last session of this Association, Prof. W. F. Wilcox, of Cornell University, showed by a statistics that in proportion to population there were more negro criminals in the North than in the South: "The negro prisoners in the Southern States to 10,000 negroes increased between 1880 and 1890 29 per cent., while the white prisoners, to 10,000 whites, increased only 8 per cent. In the States where slavery was never established the white prisoners increased 7 per cent. faster than the white population, while the negro prisoners no less than 39 per cent. faster than the negro population. Thus the increase of negro criminality, so far as it is reflected in the number of prisoners, exceeded the increase of white criminality more in the North than it did in the South."

In all of this Mr. Warner is in substantial accord with Booker Washington, the negro Moses, if they will be led, who contends that the true education for the negro is the education that educates the hand while it enlightens the brain, and teaches the negro how to work and impresses him with respect for and appreciation of honest toil, a feature in which the education of the negro is woefully deficient, and the result is that from school too many of them go into a life of idleness, or loafing, or attempt to play the gentleman of leisure, or to earn an easy living by putting their wits and acquired learning to bad purposes. There is scarcely a community in the South or in the North, where there are many negroes, which does not furnish illustrations of this, and few jails that do not contain examples. The higher education may be all right for the negroes who are disposed to properly apply themselves when they acquire it, but for the masses it is a mistake. The higher education for them is the education which teaches them how to read and write and figure, and to use their hands in some suitable employment, on the lines that they are best suited for.

Dr. Warner is in practical accord with the friends of restricted suffrage in the South as shown by the following extract from the concluding portion of his address where he speaks of the remedies for the defects in the negro's educating, one of which is the industrial school, and jointly with this the elimination of the negro as a mass from politics, in which he thus expressed his view. He incidentally, but indirectly, referred to the 15th amendment as one of the great evils of reconstruction, still persisted in and which should be repealed, adding:

"The party allegiance of the negro was bid for by the temptation of office and position for which he was in no sense fitted. No permanent righteous adjustment of relations can come until this policy is wholly abandoned. Politicians must cease to make the negro a pawn in the game of politics."

This means that while the 15th amendment exists, and restricted suffrage does not prevail, then the negro will be a pawn in the game of politics" and be played to his own detriment, and the detriment of the communities in which he lives. It is to remove this pawn from the political chess board that the white people of North Carolina are now working to secure the adoption of the constitutional amendment, the elimination of the ignorant and vicious negro from politics and the permanent establishment of white supremacy.

THE COTTON SPINNERS.

We have read with interest the addresses delivered at the meeting of the cotton spinners at Charlotte, in which they speak of the progress made in the milling industry in the South within the last few years, and made suggestions in reference to the future. In his address President McAden thus referred to the progress made within the past few years:

"The increased development in manufacturing in the South in the last few years is wonderful. More than two and one-half millions of spindles have been placed in the mills in the last year. Plants are going up all along its great avenues of trade, and the latent energy of its magnificent water power is being equipped with latest development, and is transmitted by electricity to its cities, giving employment to our labor thus harnessing the offerings of nature to the chariot of utility. The additional capital invested in mills will amount to more than sixty millions of dollars in the last year. We are endeavoring to convert the raw material into goods for shipment to foreign countries. Our export trade alone with the Empire of China without any organized efforts on our part, will exceed twenty-five millions of dollars. We should favor and urge a vigorous policy on the part of our general government, in favor of the 'Open Door Policy' with the Empire of China, and we should hold and govern the Philippine islands, which are destined to become the distributing centre of the Eastern world, and make our country the centre of Eastern civilization."

As to the "open door" policy, there will be pretty general agreement on that, for that ought to be the universal policy not only as to China, but our own and all other countries, but there are a good many people in North Carolina and other parts of this country, who wish well to the cotton spinning industry, who differ from him radically on the question of holding the Philippines, which they do not believe to be right nor necessary for the expansion of our trade in the East. But with the following from the address appertaining to the textile schools, etc., we think there will be pretty general agreement:

"Now, gentlemen, I desire to make a few suggestions in regard to matters that are of especial importance to our Southern States. We should give strong expressions in favor of a liberal appropriation on the part of the State governments for building and maintaining of textile schools, which will educate our operatives in textile science as well as in its practice. It is due to them that we do it, and we should most willingly bear our proportion of the taxation to accomplish this great work. We should also favor a liberal appropriation by the State government for common school system and supplement this fund by a liberal appropriation on the part of mill corporation to educate the children of our operatives free from any cost to them. It will be a good investment for us, and be of lasting benefit to the rising generation. It's like casting bread upon the waters. It will come again. There are many things we could do which we ought to do for their personal comfort—make the tenement houses comfortable, adopt improved system of ventilation and sanitary regulations, build churches, school houses, provide libraries. They learn rapidly and improve their condition by contact.

"We should do all in our power to erect a standard of morals, and elevate and dignify labor; make them feel that each one has a personal interest in the plant and its success.

"The operatives are nearly all our own people. They come from the agricultural districts along the foot hills of the Piedmont belt. Their condition is much improved by the change. They have better educational and church privileges. They are happy, contented and loyal to our interests.

"The crowning glory of cotton factories of the South is that they make the women of our rural districts wage earners and self-supporting, and enable them to care for and comfortably support their aged and infirm parents in the decline of lie."

The cotton mill is a great factor in our social, educational and material progress and development, and therefore every one should take an interest in it.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

Pearson of the ninth district got the seat in Congress for which he has been contesting by a close shave, two votes, and wouldn't have gotten it at all if some of the Republican members who believed Crawford was fairly elected had not been deterred from voting against Pearson, because it looked like voting against their party. It is not creditable to them, to their conception of duty as honest representatives of the people, or to their manhood, but it is the fact, and thus by their failure to foot the line as brave, honest men, the snivelling, whining Pearson got the seat that belonged to the man who beat him at the polls and will beat him again next November, if the Republicans in that district have the folly or lack the self-respect to re-nominate him. To quote the warm prediction of Mr. Moody, one of the Republican lights of that district, made some time ago, "all —— can't prevent the district from going Democratic next Fall if Pearson be given the seat."

Personally Pearson is not a popular man, for he has not one sentiment in common with the masses of the people, and men who vote for him don't do it because they respect of like him, but because he is the party nominee. They have no regard for the man, because he is a snob, who puts on airs because he happens to have some money, and they have no confidence in his stability as a politician, because he has belonged to both parties in turn, and turned his back on each when they failed to take him at his own estimate and reward him accordingly.

There is no more comparison between the plain, sturdy, stalwart man of the people, Crawford, and this mountebank popinjay, than there is between the lordly eagle, and the nest-stealing sparrow. Sneaking into Crawford's seat, as he did, makes Parson no bigger but a smaller and more contemptible man. The people of the Ninth district will vindicate themselves, and resist this usurpation accomplished by fraud, misrepresentation and slander, when the time comes to render a verdict at the polls. Then Pearson will be ordered out and Crawford be sent to represent them in the next Congress.

O. T. Crump, Richmond, Va., writes:

"For several weeks before I commenced using Paine's Celery Compound I had a tired and all-gone feeling, my blood became impure, and I was daily losing flesh. One of my friends advised me to use Paine's Celery Compound, and I found relief from the first bottle. I used three more bottles, and it made my nerves strong, my blood pure, and muscles firm.

Paine's Celery Compound is a resource for health, strength, vitality.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— General Arthur McArthur, who succeeds General Otis in the Philippine command, has one of the most difficult tasks that any American soldier ever undertook. He should be given an absolutely fair showing both by the administration and the public. General McArthur has a fine record as a soldier and is trusted and beloved by the troops of his command.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— Mr. John W. Gates has now acheived that degree of distinction at which things he did not say may be attributed to him. A Chicago broker says that Mr. Gates remarked that "There is no money in promoting. The people are becoming too wary. Reorganization will be the next great play." It is a very interesting remark, whoever uttered it.—New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, Ind.

—— The Nebraska Republicans resolved that "The Republican party, now as always, is unalterably opposed to all trusts and combinations having for their purpose the stifling of competition and arbitrarily production or fixing prices." The Nebraska Republicans, however, seem to have forgotten to draw up a few laws against trusts and send them to the Republican Congress for passage in lieu of legislation it has forgotten to pass—Louisville Courier-Journal, Dem.

— Monroe Enquirer: A prominent Republican of this county tells us that there will be no Republican convention in this county this year. He is frank enough to admit that the Republican party has been killed in this county by the self appointed leaders. —— From what we can learn the cotton acreage in this county is not greatly increased. So much of the cotton land was sown in wheat last fall is one reason why the cotton acreage was not greatly increased this year.

Brave Men Fall

Victims of the stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the result in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed. †

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Almance Gleaner: From all parts of the county it is learned that the wheat crop is unusually promising, notwithstanding the fact that we had no snow to speak of last winter.

— Washington Progress: We are reliably informed that in the Aurora section of this country the negroes are holding night schools and that some of the grown men, much over age are attending free school. They are equipping themselves against the amendment.

— Goldsboro Argus: It is reported that the electric storm which passed over this city Wednesday afternoon was passing over Clark's a station 8 miles this side of Newberne, a volt of lightning struck a white man's hand and tore it off, without shocking him other than the pain incident to losing his hand. This is an unusual occurence. The man is "doing well."

— Fair Bluff Times: On last Thursday evening, the 3rd inst., Miss Martha Hester, who lived near Orton, this county, was killed by a falling tree. She and her mother and little brother were alone, a heavy cloud was rising, and while they were on their way to the nearest neighbor's house (Mr. Freeman's,) the sad occurence took place. She lived about two hours when death came to her relief.

— Scotland Neck Commonwealth: The fourth knitting mill is now assured for Scotland Neck. Messrs. Andrews and Coughenour and J. E. Bowers will at once erect a knitting mill at the point known as the "Tank" about a mile north of town. The building will be about 40x90 feet and will take machinery enough to employ one hundred operatives. The mill will manufacture hoisery exclusively and employ colored labor.

— Gastonia Gazette: Mr. C. E. Bennett of Union, S. C., passed through the city last Thursday and had with him one of the largest dogs ever seen around here. He was a Great Dane and came from Germany. The original price paid for him was $135. He is now three years old and tips the beam of 252 pounds. The dog is now owned by Mrs. Dowchase of Lincolnton. Mr. Bennett informed us that he was very docile and easily managed and very fond of children.

— Lexington Dispatch: Miss Mary A. Winecoff, a young lady living near Salisbury was taken to the State Hospital at Morganton Saturday morning. She had become frantically insane by reason of the complete prostration consequent on devoted nursing of a younger brother. —— Work began on the Nokomis cotton mill yesterday morning, and will be completed by November 1st. The capital stock now raised is near $150,000 and the sum total of $300,000 will be raised by the time the building is finished. The number of workmen employed in the mill, when finished, be near three hundred.

— Stubb—"I compel our cook to keep an alarm clock in her room." Penn—"Does the gong arouse her?" Stubb—"No, but it arouses my wife, and then she goes up two flights of stairs and raps on the cook's door."

— Temptations Withdrawn: "Here's a quarter for you, poor man," said the sympathetic old lady, "and I hope you will stick to your resolve never to be dishonest." "I will, mum," responded Weary Wiggins. "Wot's der use ov stealin' when yer kin git money dis easy?"—Philadelphia Record.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The cotton market was more active to-day, with the general ruling sentiment bearish under continued encouraging reports from crop sections and persistent rumors that the leading bulls were withdrawing from the market. The cables were also summed up as bearish, and but few buying orders appeared from the public or foreign contingent. The room trade was disposed to show aggressiveness on a small scale, devoting attention to the Fall and Winter deliveries. The opening was quiet and easy with prices unchanged to three points lower. Up to mid-day there was little variation in values, but in mid-afternoon, a feeling of heaviness, under forecasts for clear and mild weather over the belt and a quickening of selling for both accounts. July and August failed to display their customary relative steadiness, rather leading in the downward course of the market. On the late irregularity the South sold the October and January options. The market was finally steady with May three points higher and the other months unchanged to four points lower.

MANY USES FOR JUNK

HOW WORNOUT AND DISCARDED METAL IS UTILIZED.

Old Horseshoes May Reappear as Razors, and Battered Kitchen Stoves May Go Up In Skyscrapers—Lucky Finds In the Junkshops.

The other day I wandered into a large yard containing great heaps of scrap iron and old metals of different kinds. Workmen were sorting out the masses of rusty, misshapen and tangled metals, each of which evidently had its particular value in the market. I wondered what became of all the castaway metal and what peculiar transformations it underwent. In seeking some information on the point from the proprietor of the place he said:

"This business doesn't look as if it possessed any elements of interest, educational or romantic, and yet it has something of both of these. Now, there's an old horseshoe. It may shave a Mongolian in China, though what a Mongolian has to shave I don't clearly see. Of course it will be converted first into a razor. I ship large quantities of these wornout horseshoes and wagon tires to the Celestial kingdom to be worked up into razors, knives and other useful domestic articles. The Chinaman engaged in this particular industry gets 12 cents a day for his labor. These horseshoes and wagon tires are wrought iron and are preferred to other forms of this metal, because they are the most conveniently handled.

"When you go across the bridge to the borough of Manhattan, you probably notice some of the new 20 or 30 story buildings going up there and the big iron columns and girders used in their construction. You probably think that those columns and girders are all new metal, but it is likely that they are not. They are scrap iron, pure and simple, or may be mixed with some new ore in the melting and recasting of the scrap metal in the foundry or rolling mill where all the scrap goes. Your discarded kitchen stove may reappear in one of the columns or girders of a skyscraper. The owners of these lofty buildings may think they are getting new iron material and may pay for it, but they are probably not getting it. Perhaps there isn't much difference in the durability of the recast metal and the new.

"When you are riding in a trolley car, you may reflect that the metal in the axles of the wheels and in the railroad tracks may have formerly served in stove grates. Such are some of the new forms and uses which scrap metal assumes.

"We dealers alight upon some strange finds among the old metal which we gather. I have at home six solid bronze plaques, as one of this class of finds, which I wouldn't take $75 for. I've also got at home an iron and bronze aquarium, another of these peculiar discoveries, which I wouldn't part with for $50.

"It is curious to think how such valuable articles get into such poor company as scrap iron. Perhaps the original owners carelessly permit them to get mixed up with some old junk which they disposed of to the junkman who brings his collection of stock to us, or perhaps they deliberately throw them away through simple weariness of their possession. Then, again, the articles may possibly be stolen and sold to the junkman.

"There are other interesting finds we meet with in our business. Not only the common but the finer metals, such as jewelry and silverware, fall into our hands. Possibly you've heard your wife remark one day that there was a silver spoon missing, and she might suspect that the servant has stolen it. But the truth is the spoon has accidentally gone astray and passed unnoticed into the ash can or garbage tub and in the course of time, possibly, we pick it up out of the dumps. Many a spoon, knife and fork with Tiffany's or Benedict's stamp on it I have bought at Barren island after being taken out of these dumps. Other stray waifs in this class which I have gathered from the Barren island dumps are silver pocketknives and matchboxes, gold and silver thimbles and cuff buttons, gold rings and a ladies' gold purse which I sold for $20 as old gold. Some time ago a ring with a transparent stone was picked out of the dumps. A business rival of mine just got ahead of me in the purchase of the ring, which he got for $10. The stone proved to be a genuine diamond, and the purchaser got $250 for the ring. It looked like a ladies' engagement ring and the sympathetic thought struck me that its possibly fair owner was at that moment suffering unimaginable distress at its loss.

"So you see," continued the dealer, "there are a few interesting and somewhat romantic features associated with our very prosy looking business."
—Brooklyn Citizen.

Curing a Cold.

To feed a cold and starve a fever is a dangerous maxim. At the first sign of a cold the patient ought to take a rapid hot bath in a warm, well ventilated room, then remain covered in bed, with hot water at the feet, for several hours. Darken the windows, court sleep, and fast, save only from drinking warm broth or gruel, until unpleasant symptoms subside. Nor should there be mental or physical exertion. Then all the vitality can go to restoring circulation and throwing off that waste material which, retained, is absolute poison. To eat in this condition is to add the proverbial straw to the camel's back.—Good Housekeeping.

"Some men," said the corn fed philosopher, "can't stand prosperity, and other men can't get the chance to stand it."—Indianapolis Journal.

Trains, Worry, Disease and Death.

Late trains are a source of annoyance to everybody. The British Medical Journal dwells upon the very serious result produced by them upon the health of travelers. The rush to the station to catch the train which may perchance be punctual; the weary wait on drafty platforms or in stuffy waiting rooms; the dilatory journey—all these, we are told, add seriously to the labor of the day even in the best of times, but when the weather is cold and damp they are still more injurious and in that they are largely responsible for those "colds," as they are called, those conditions of depressed vitality which are the starting points of most of the acute diseases from which men suffer and from which the elderly and the feeble die.

Genuine Courtesy.

Surface manners are like cut flowers stuck in a shallow glass with just enough water to keep them fresh an hour or so; but the courtesy that has its growth in the heart is like the rosebush in the garden that no inclement season can kill and no dark day force to forego the unfolding of a bud.

Wonderful Development.

Watts—The development of the sense of touch in the blind is something always a wonder to me.

Gotrox—I have it pretty well developed myself. I have got so I can tell a borrower two blocks away.—Indianapolis Journal.

SHE WAS YOUNG.

And There Were Many, Many Things She Did Not Know.

"One thing is certain," an affianced maid announced, with decision, on the eve of her wedding—"my husband shall never call me 'mamma.' He may call me Clara or Mrs. Richards or even 'Say,' but I shall never be called 'mamma.' It is a horrid, impersonal name."

We mammas who heard her only smiled and answered nothing at all, for each of us remembered that she was young and that there were many, many things that she did not know.

She did not know that when the sweetheart had changed to the wife and the wife to the mother there comes a wondrous first time. That first time that she feels the downy head nestling under her chin, that first time that she feels the restless pat, pat of little feet as she vainly tries to prison them in her hand, she learns then that her life has burst into a new and wonderful fullness. In her heart there is kindled the fire of love, and the incense that arises from it glorifies the whole atmosphere, and the warmth envelops her and her Baby in an everlasting mantle.

Then in the dim light she sees bending over her the one that she loves best of all, and she reaches out her hand to him to draw him near, that he, too, may come within the enchanted circle; that he, too, may breathe the sacred incense and be warmed by the heavenly fire. Laying his hand in hers, they look together into the new little face, but no word comes to express the strange sweet feelings that are surging through them both until, bending close to her, he softly whispers, "Mamma."

It is a baptism. All the sweet, intangible things that have been filling her being have been caught and held in that word. The world may teem with mammas, but the name to her has a new and sacred meaning. Other names have been given her, other promises have been made in the giving and in the taking, but nothing so tender, so strong, so sweet as this, and her whole being goes out in a silent promise to live up to the sacredness of that name.—Woman's Home Companion.

SEASICK ON SEA LEGS.

Officers and Sailors of the Navy Frequently Distressed.

"The officers and sailors of the navy are frequent sufferers from seasickness, even after they have got their sea legs on," observed a naval surgeon to a reporter. "Indeed I think I can safely say that, young and old, one-third of the entire navy officers as well as men are seasick during storms as well as at other times. In theory naval officers and sailors are entirely free from such so called weakness, but, in fact, they have stomachs and are sufferers at times the same as the rest of humanity.

"The sailor in this respect has many advantages over the naval officers and is less sensitive to seasickness for the reason that he seldom has what is called shore duty to perform, and he is on the ship all the time, barring the days off now and then of liberty. When an officer, it is entirely different, for he seldom has to spend as much time on the ship as he does on shore. The three years' sea duty are generally followed by three years' shore duty, during which time his sea legs and stomach entirely disappear and have to be built up again.

"It is rare that an officer on return to sea duty does not have to go through all the painful and distressing experiences of his first seasickness, and I am not sure but each recurrence of this experience is worse than the original. I have known a dozen officers of from 15 to 25 years' experience in the navy, and I know of at least 50 others who admit that they are as liable to seasickness now as they were when they were middies fresh from the Naval academy."—Washington Star.

Fourteen Mistakes.

An English paper gives a list of what it terms "the 14 mistakes of life." While there are undoubtedly other mistakes than those mentioned, the list is a fairly comprehensive one.

It is a great mistake to set up our own standard of right and wrong and judge people accordingly; to measure the enjoyment of others by our own; to expect uniformity of opinion in this world; to look for judgment and experience in youth; to endeavor to mold all dispositions alike; to look for perfection in our own actions; to worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied; not to yield in immaterial matters; not to alleviate all that needs alleviation as far as lies in our power; not to make allowances for the infirmities of others; to consider everything impossible that we cannot perform; to believe only what our finite minds can grasp; to expect to be able to understand everything.

And the last and greatest mistake of all is to live for time alone, when any moment may launch us into eternity.

What Might Have Been.

"Now, I suppose," remarked Mrs. Snaggs, "that the surgeons of the army are attached to the medical corps."

"Your supposition does you great credit," replied Mr. Snaggs sarcastically. "It's a wonder you didn't imagine that doctors joined the army for the purpose of building bridges or going up in a balloon. Where should army surgeons be except in the medical corps?"

"Well, I thought that they might possibly belong to the lancers."—London Standard.

Not Her Abode.

"My income is small," said a rather dilatory lover, "and perhaps it is cruel of me to take you from your father's roof."

"But I don't live on the roof," was the prompt reply.—Harlem Life.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 12.

RUSSELL'S FRIEND HARRIS

Predicts the Defeat of the Republican State Ticket by at Least Forty Thousand Majority.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., May 11.—In an authorized interview to-day J. C. L. Harris a close personal friend and adviser of Gov. Russell, predicted the defeat of the present Republican State ticket by at least 40,000 majority. Speaking of the failure of the convention to endorse Gov. Russell, he said: "The action of the convention absolves every friend of Gov. Russell from obligation to support the Republican State ticket, if they see fit to take this course."

"Will any of them break that course?" he was asked. "I have no doubt they will," he replied. "It is difficnlt to see how any friend of the Governor can support that ticket without endorsing the action of the convention toward the Governor. Any of his friends who do this will thereby stultify themselves."

"Will you support the Republican State ticket?" "No, am not going to vote for it."

Mr. Harris said further that if he had been given a hearing, as he desired, in the State convention, he would have told the convention that "the nomination of a State ticket and the refusal to endorse the Governor would probably result in a disaster equal to that which overtook the ticket in 1892, and that this result, happening in the month of August, before the presidential election of November, would make it utterly impossible to carry the State for McKinley."

He says of the attack made by Russell on Pearson: "That letter, in the hands of Democratic speakers puts the Republicans in an utterly indefensible position. Republican speakers, can only discuss on the stump what they think the Democrats will do, while the Democrats can point to what the Republicans have already done, in the Ninth district, toward disfranchising the white man."

PEARSON-CRAWFORD CASE.

Republicans Express Contempt for Pearson--Pritchard Urging Consideration of Dockery-Bellamy Contest.

[Special Star Telegram.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The Pearson-Crawford case was the subject of much discussion about the capitol to-day. A Republican member of the House to-day in speaking of the matter said: "A large number on our side of the House would have been pleased to have seen Pearson defeated. Those of us who are posted on the facts in the case have nothing but contempt for Pearson. The absence of fifteen of our members who were in the city clearly confirms this. Of course we could hardly be expected to vote for Representative Crawford, for if we did we would certainly be called to account for it in our districts. I have never before in my career as a member of Congress witnessed the hissing of a member sworn in after a contest as was done in the case of Pearson yesterday when he stepped to the bar of the House to receive the oath. In the Wise-Young and Robbins-Aldrich cases, recently decided, nothing of this kind occurred, if you will remember. I do not think that any one envied Pearson's position."

The above statement is only a repetition of many others. Even the clerks and door-keepers freely expressed themselves in very uncomplimentary language.

Representative Driscoll, Republican, of New York, who has always stood with Crawford, and Representative Jack, of Pennsylvania, who yesterday voted for Representative Crawford, were to-day the recipients of many congratulations from the Democratic side of the House. It was said to-day that Senator Pritchard is endeavoring to have the Republican leaders take up and dispose of the Dockery-Bellamy case at an early date. Chairman Weaver when asked about it said:

"This is news to me. I cannot say when the committee will take the matter up."

Representative Bellamy to-day introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of theT reasury to pay to the estate of Cicero Davis, Craven county, N. C., $3,000 for property destroyed during the civil war by Federal troops; also a similar bill for Washington Miller, appropriating $1,160.

JEFFRIES STILL THE CHAMPION.

Defeated Corbett in a Fierce Fight Lasting Twenty-three Rounds.

CORBETT WAS KNOCKED OUT.

It Was a Close Contest and Until Near the Last Round Corbett Seemed to Have the Advantage--Both Men Were in Fine Shape.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SEASIDE CLUB, CONEY ISLAND, May 11.—Jim Jeffries is still the heavy weight champion pugilist of the world. He defeated Jim Corbett in the twenty-third round of their fight with a complete knock-out. The finishing blow came as a sudden and startling surprise. Corbett had been making a wonderful battle. His defence was absolutely perfect, and while he was lacking in strength he had more than held his own and stood an excellent chance of winning the fight had it gone the limit. He had not been badly punished and had managed to mark his man severely. The winning punch was a short left jolt to the jaw. Corbett dropped like a weight and was clear out. Jeffries showed ability to take a punching, go any distance and punch hard. He was clearly out-boxed and at times made to look like a novice. The crowd which numbered fully eight thousand was with Corbett and his defeat fell upon a silent crowd. There were cheers for him when he revived and left the ring and he was generally shown more consideration than the victor.

Corbett is still a factor in the pugilistic game. He has regained much of his old form. The bout was clean and it is doubtful if there was a single infraction of the rules.

Round One—Jeffries forces Jim with Corbett breaking ground and sprinting. He forced Corbett to ropes, landing right to the body. Corbett sent hard left to face and Jeffries lands light left. Corbett still shifty and breaking ground and hooked left to nose. He kept up his sprinting and sent another left to Jeffries' head. Jeff tried left and right, but Corbett blocked cleverly and hooked another left to face. Corbett backed away and tantalized his opponent by his clever movement. Corbett hooks left to face. Jeffries then sent right to the body and Corbett countered with left on head. This was Corbett's round on points.

Round Three—Corbett was again the quicker on the feet. He hooked light left to Jeffries' head. Jeff cool and deliberate in his movements. He guarded his face cautiously and forced Corbett four circles of the ring. Corbett feinted, with his left, but did not land, and Jeff sent right and left to body. Corbett tried twice with left for body, but missed, and then they exchanged light lefts on the head. Corbett feinted again, but Jeffries blocked and sent his left to body, driving Corbett to the ropes. Corbett endeavored to feint Jeffries out of position, but got a right in the body for his pains. With a quick movement Corbett sprang into his own corner, where Jeffries caught him, sending a stiff left to the ribs just as the gong rang.

Round Four—They rushed to a clinch after which Jeffries hooked left to head. Corbett tried a right to the body, but fell short; but Jeffries sent his right over to the head. They sparred for a spell with Corbett breaking ground and then Jeffries forced Corbett to the ropes, sending his left to body. A moment later he repeated this blow and Corbett looked worried. At close quarters Jeffries put his right to the head and as they broke he came back quickly with right to body. Then a right and left from Jeffries to the head jarred Corbett. Jeffries followed up with another terrific left on the neck and Corbett was very tired when the bell rang.

Round Five—Corbett resumed the contest with evident relish, but he was very anxious meanwhile. Jeffries got to him at close quarters with light left to body and Corbett failed to reply. Corbett feinted with his right, but Jeffries called the bluff and hooked his left to the body. Corbett sparred cleverly, sending left to body, and after a little shifty work hooked left twice to head. Jeffries attempted a left hook for the jaw, but Corbett ducked it and sent another left to the jaw. Jeffries then crowded in and rushed Jim to the ropes, putting left hard to body. Jeffries forced the fighting and sent left to face and body with telling effect just before the bell sounded.

Round Six—Corbett sprang to the center of the ring, but Jeff was ready for him. "Don't let him get set," said George Considine, "Watch him, Jim, he can't hit you in a week." A second later Jeffries led a straight left to the face. Corbett was compelled to shift continually to avoid his leads. Corbett used his legs for safety to the end of the round, without having scored a semblance of a blow.

Round Seven—They rush to a clinch again. Jeffries landed light left on the wind. Again they went to a clinch and in the break Jeffries threw his left over to the ribs. Corbett played for the body, but Jeffries crowded him and blocked. Jeffries tried left lead to the head, which Corbett ducked beautifully, but Jeffries was hard after him and sent right and left smashes to body which almost sent Corbett off his feet. Jeffries got wild, swinging both hands to body, and Corbett sprinted to avoid the punishment. Jeffries landed left and right to body and Corbett, after jumping back, ran into a straight left on the face. The round was altogether in Jeffries' favor and Corbett seemed to be weakening at the close.

Round Eight—Corbett rushed in with a left to the body which was blocked, and Jeff forced him to the ropes with a right in the chest. Corbett hooked left to head and Jeff countered to the stomach. Corbett hooked left to head and got away clean. Jeffries made a bull rush, sending his left to wind without a return. Jeffries kept on forcing, but was very wild in his delivery as he missed three left hooks for the head. Corbett dodged all three in the smartest manner. Jeffries kept on forcing the pace and landed on the neck, Corbett countering with a right hook to head. Corbett stepped in and got in a corking good right to ribs and ducked Jeffries' counter. The bell found them sparring.

Round Nine—Both led lefts and clinched. Then Corbett hooked left to the head and swung right to jaw, staggering Jeff. Corbett followed up with another right swing to jaw, but it was not so hard as the other one. Corbett came in with a left to body and in the break away swung a terrific right to the jaw which made Jeffries look very groggy. Corbett put his left and right quickly to the head and hooked another hard left to jaw. Jeffries sent back hard left swing to head. Corbett was the clearer; jabbed Jeffries, much to the latter's detriment. This was certainly Corbett's round and the best round of the fight thus far.

Round Ten—Corbett opened with a left to head and ducked the return. Again he hooked left to the ear, blocking Jeffries' attempt for the body. Jeffries then was on the aggressive, but Corbett, quick as lightning, sent left and right to face and had the big fellow guessing before he knew where he was at. Corbett kept forcing, and with another left to the nose made the boiler-maker spill blood profusely. Jeffries was very wild, swinging at random, while Corbett kept lancing left-hand jabs on neck and face. Jeffries made several rushes but to no purpose, and Corbett stock went booming. Corbett was loudly cheered at the end of the round.

The Last Round.

Round Twenty-three—After a couple of passes Jeffries swung his right to Corbett's jaw and then rushed him across the ring to the ropes to a neutral corner. At close quarters Corbett hooked left twice to the face, sending the blood spurting again from Jeffries mouth. Jeffries threw two hard lefts into the body and smashed his left again on Corbett's face, sending Corbett's head back. Then Jeffries crowded him to the ropes and with a full swinging left smash on the jaw sent Corbett rolling down and out. Corbett's head struck the floor heavily and he rolled over in a vain attempt to regain his feet, but he was too far gone to recuperate within the call of ten seconds.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

The pending amendment when the consideration of the Naval Appropriation bill was resumed, was that of Mr. Tillman for a straight price of $300 per ton for armor and a government armor factory costing not over $4,000,000. It was discussed at length, until adjournment at 5:40 p. m.

THREATS OF LYNCHING.

Negro Attempted Criminal Assault on a White Woman—Troops Called Out.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RICHMOND, VA., May 11.—Wednesday, in Henry county, a negro named Charles Hairston attempted criminal assault on a young white woman, and Thursday he was arrested and lodged in jail at Martinsville. To-night Governor Tyler received a call for troops from the sheriff of the county, who stated that there were threats of lynching. The Governor is now taking steps to answer the call.

A special from Martinsville at 11 o'clock to-night says that the situation has become serious, and the Piedmont Rifles have been ordered out to guard the prisoner.

The Governor has ordered the Roanoke company to hold itself in readiness to reinforce the Martinsville company, if necessary.

A special from Martinsville at 2:25 A. M. says a mob is reported assembling three miles from town and an attempt to lynch the negro is regarded as imminent. The military, however, say the can and will hold they jail.

PROPOSALS FROM TURKEY

For Settlement of the American Indemnity Claim in an Indirect Way.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 11.—Ahmid Paaha has left Constantinople. He is going to the United States with proposals, the object of which is the settlement of the indemnity claims in an indirect manner. In the event of the failure of Ahmid's proposals, the United States government will resume negotiations with the Porte. The impression here is that Ahmid will not succeed.

The Porte has presented a new note to the embassies announcing its intention to introduce octroi in Gallipolis. The object of this movement, it is believed, is to establish a precedent for the subsequent imposition of like duties in other towns. It is expected that the embassies will again refuse to assent, as the measure is contrary to the treaty.

FOR THE RELIEF OF MAFEKING.

A British Column of Mounted Men Pushing Forward to the Beseiged Town.

HARRASSED BY THE BOERS.

Lord Roberts' Force Following Botha's Troops in the Direction of Kroonstad—Free Staters Decide to Carry on the War.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, May 12, 4:30 A. M.—A British column, 3,000 strong, has arrived at Vryburg, 100 miles from Mafeking. It reached there Thursday, and, though harrassed by the Boers, is pushing swiftly forward. Fifty miles south of Vryburg at Taunge, is General Hunter's main body, moving slowly and contending with considerable forces. The pick of his mounted men are the 3,000 who are going without wheeled transport at a rate that may possibly bring them to Mafeking on Monday or Tuesday next.

Lord Roberts' narrative closes with Thursday evening, but he continued yesterday toward Kroonstad, twenty miles distant, and by this time he must know whether the Boers intend to fight there.

Mr. Winston Churchill says there were only 3,000 Boers who opposed the British at Zand river. Another estimate is that 6,000 Boers with six guns made a rear guard action while many other thousands, with convoys, retired without firing a shot.

President Steyn and a council of the leaders of several thousand Free Staters in the Ladybrand and Ficksburg districts determined to submit to the men the question of continuing the war or not at a great open air meeting. The fighting men decided to fight on. Steyn, who appears to be in active command, began to advance toward the British and came into contact on Thursday, with Campbell's brigade and Brabant's horse, twenty miles northeast of Thaba N'Chu.

A smart engagement ensued with no positive success on either side, except that the Boer advance was stopped.

General Rundle has disposed ten thousand infantry along a twenty mile front in such a way as to bar a Boer advance toward Lord Roberts' communications. With the exception of Brabant's colonials, General Rundle has no horsemen. The cavalry are all with Lord Roberts' advance.

According to a Pretoria telegram Gen. Buller is moving from Elandslaagte in the direction of Helpmakaar; and the British vanguard engaged a Boer patrol of Italians on Thursday. Twelve Italians are described as routing fifty British.

The dispatch also says that "British reconnoitering parties have invaded the Transvaal near Fourteen Streams and that the scouts on both sides meet frequently with varying results."

Driving the Boers.

LONDON, May 11, 10:50 A. M.—Lord Roberts telegraphs to the war office from Reitspruit, under date of May 10, evening, as follows:

"We have had a successful day and have driven the enemy from point to point. French, with Porter's and Dickinson's brigades of cavalry and Hutton's mounted infantry, crossed the Zand at Vermentes kraal, and then worked round in a northeasterly direction to Maatschaphy, being opposed continuously by the enemy. Pole-Carew's division and Gordon's cavalry brigade, augmented by "J" Battery of the Royal Horse Artillery and by Henry's and Ross' mounted infantry, crossed the river by a drift near the railway bridge. My headquarters accompanied this force. With the infantry portion we are eight miles north of the river. The cavalry and mounted infantry are at Ventersburg Road station and Tuckers division is at Deel Fonteinnard. Ian Hamilton's force and Broadwood's cavalry brigade were making for the cross roads near Ventersburg when I last heard from them. Hamilton's column met with stubborn resistance and Smith-Dorien's brigade was engaged for some hours in protecting the rear and flank of his forces.

"The drifts are extremely difficult and much baggage has still to come up. We shall, however, march at daybreak and push on as far as possible in Arkonsdad direction.

"The only casualties reported at present are:

"Killed—Rank and file four; wounded five. No returns yet from the cavalry nor Hamilton's force."

Free Staters Concentrating.

MASERU, BASUTOLAND, May 10.—The Free Staters are concentrating strongly in a good position on the Korannaberg hills, lying eastward of the direct line from Thaba N'Chu to Winburg. President Steyn was with them yesterday, but is believed to have gone northward after inspiring the burghers with predictions of approaching Boer successes through the assistance of thousands of foreigners, who, he said, were pouring into Delagoa Bay.

General Rundle's division camped last evening on the banks of the little Leuw river, between Thaba N'Chu and Ladybrand.

For Relief of Mafeking.

LONDON, May 11.—A special from Pretoria, dated May 11, says: It is announced that the British relief force of three thousand is advancing along the Brehuana railway, by forced marches day and night. It reached Vryburg yesterday.

FIGHTING IN THE PHILIPPINES

Filipinos Attacked Americans—Repulsed With Severe Loss—An Insurgent Stronghold Captured.

By Cable to the Morning Star

MANILA, May 11, 9:10 A. M.—A force of five hundred insurgents attacked 25 scouts of the 48th regiment near San Jacinto, Province Pangasinan, on Monday, but were routed by the scouts, ten of their number being killed. The Americans lost two killed.

On April 26th the rebels burned and sacked the town of Trocin near Bulan, murdering natives who were friendly to the Americans and two Spaniards. The Americans killed 37 of the insurgents.

On the same date Major Andrews with two companies of troops attacked General Mojica's stronghold, near Ormuc, Leyte Island. Mojica had brass cannon and plenty of ammunition, but after three hours fighting the insurgents fled. The loss is not known. The Americans lost two killed and eleven wounded. They destroyed the enemy's rifles and powder and stores.

The islanders of Masbete received Colonel Hardin's expedition differently from those of Marinduque, where he left one company of the Twenty-ninth regiment. On approaching the principal town, Palanoc, the insurgent trenches appeared to be occupied and the gunboat Helena bombarded them vigorously, after which three companies were landed and took the trenches with little resistance. One Filipino was killed. Two or three hundred insurgents hold the neighboring towns and the natives appear unfriendly.

As previously cabled to the Associated Press but few armed insurgents were found at Marinduque.

People think a man is sometimes when the real secret of his influence is good taste in Dress and being well dressed at all times. There is nothing that lends that air of swelldom and distinguished appearance to a man as a Suit of Clothes made and fitted perfectly by an Artist Tailor. That is the secret of our Success.
